Digest of Green Reports and Studies

Author	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such Author Contact Inijakikaye@yahoo.com Publication Type Report Publication Date June 2006 # of Pages 71 URL http://www.freewebs.com/lauriekaye/greenindustryinla.htm Or http://repositories.cdlib.org/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1091&context=lewis Summary Los Angeles is an urban center that faces a slew of environmental and economic challenge Economic and environmental goals can be met through an environmental sustainable ager that concentrates on attracting and developing the green economic sector. The green economic sector includes all businesses that provide environmental goods and services state as alternative sources of energy and pollution prevention technology. The foregoing resear examines the green economic sector in Los Angeles. It first quantifies existing establishme in the city, and then examines other municipalities and international governments in order present a set of recommendations to build upon and reform existing programs in the city. The burgeoning sector offers opportunities for revenue generation and job growth within the city Political attention has been recently focused on these possibilities. Green industry can help reverse some of Los Angeles' environmental and economic problems. Key Findings A holistic economic development strategy around green industry that includes demand and supply side efforts. Stimulate green jobs through green procurement, targeted incentives a workforce development opportunities. Recommendations Establish partnerships between public, private sector and nonprofit communities to build a green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sect	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such Publication Type	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such
of Pages 71 URL http://www.freewebs.com/lauriekaye/greenindustryinla.htm Or http://repositories.cdlib.org/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1091&context=lewis Summary Los Angeles is an urban center that faces a slew of environmental and economic challenge Economic and environmental goals can be met through an environmental sustainable aget that concentrates on attracting and developing the green economic sector. The green economic sector includes all businesses that provide environmental goods and services state as alternative sources of energy and pollution prevention technology. The foregoing reseal examines the green economic sector in Los Angeles. It first quantifies existing establishme in the city, and then examines other municipalities and international governments in order in present a set of recommendations to build upon and reform existing programs in the city. The burgeoning sector offers opportunities for revenue generation and job growth within the city. Political attention has been recently focused on these possibilities. Green industry can help reverse some of Los Angeles' environmental and economic problems. Key Findings A holistic economic development strategy around green industry that includes demand and supply side efforts. Stimulate green jobs through green procurement, targeted incentives a workforce development in industries. Look towards environmental issues as sources of economic development opportunities. Establish partnerships between public, private sector and nonprofit communities to build a green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sectors most like for growth (energy efficiency, green building, green goods movement). Generate demand though green procurement. Recognize businesses that are engaging in green activities. Market the City of Los Angeles as an ideal area for green growth. Train the appropriate	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such
of Pages 71 URL http://www.freewebs.com/lauriekaye/greenindustryinla.htm Or http://repositories.cdlib.org/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1091&context=lewis Summary Los Angeles is an urban center that faces a slew of environmental and economic challenge Economic and environmental goals can be met through an environmental sustainable aget that concentrates on attracting and developing the green economic sector. The green economic sector includes all businesses that provide environmental goods and services state as alternative sources of energy and pollution prevention technology. The foregoing reseal examines the green economic sector in Los Angeles. It first quantifies existing establishme in the city, and then examines other municipalities and international governments in order in present a set of recommendations to build upon and reform existing programs in the city. The burgeoning sector offers opportunities for revenue generation and job growth within the city. Political attention has been recently focused on these possibilities. Green industry can help reverse some of Los Angeles' environmental and economic problems. Key Findings A holistic economic development strategy around green industry that includes demand and supply side efforts. Stimulate green jobs through green procurement, targeted incentives a workforce development in industries. Look towards environmental issues as sources of economic development opportunities. Establish partnerships between public, private sector and nonprofit communities to build a green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sectors most like for growth (energy efficiency, green building, green goods movement). Generate demand though green procurement. Recognize businesses that are engaging in green activities. Market the City of Los Angeles as an ideal area for green growth. Train the appropriate	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such Number	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such Number N	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such
Summary Los Angeles is an urban center that faces a slew of environmental and economic challenge Economic and environmental goals can be met through an environmental sustainable ager that concentrates on attracting and developing the green economic sector. The green economic sector includes all businesses that provide environmental goods and services su as alternative sources of energy and pollution prevention technology. The foregoing reseat examines the green economic sector in Los Angeles. It first quantifies existing establishme in the city, and then examines other municipalities and international governments in order present a set of recommendations to build upon and reform existing programs in the city. The burgeoning sector offers opportunities for revenue generation and job growth within the city Political attention has been recently focused on these possibilities. Green industry can help reverse some of Los Angeles' environmental and economic problems. Key Findings Key Findings A holistic economic development strategy around green industry that includes demand and supply side efforts. Stimulate green jobs through green procurement, targeted incentives a workforce development opportunities. Look towards environmental issues as sources of economic development opportunities. Establish partnerships between public, private sector and nonprofit communities to build a green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sectors most like for growth (energy efficiency, green building, green goods movement). Generate demand though green procurement. Recognize businesses that are engaging in green activities. Market the City of Los Angeles as an ideal area for green growth. Train the appropriate	economic challenges. ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such Economic and environmental goals can be met through an environmental sustainable ager that concentrates on attracting and developing the green economic sector. The green economic sector includes all businesses that provide environmental goods and services su as alternative sources of energy and pollution prevention technology. The foregoing resear examines the green economic sector in Los Angeles. It first quantifies existing establishme in the city, and then examines other municipalities and international governments in order to present a set of recommendations to build upon and reform existing programs in the city. The burgeoning sector offers opportunities for revenue generation and job growth within the city. Political attention has been recently focused on these possibilities. Green industry can help reverse some of Los Angeles' environmental and economic problems. Key Findings A holistic economic development strategy around green industry that includes demand and supply side efforts. Stimulate green jobs through green procurement, targeted incentives a workforce development in industries. Look towards environmental issues as sources of economic development opportunities. Establish partnerships between public, private sector and nonprofit communities to build a green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sectors most like for growth (energy efficiency, green building, green goods movement). Generate demand though green procurement. Recognize businesses that are engaging in green activities. Market the City of Los Angeles as an ideal area for green growth. Train the appropriate	ntal sustainable agenda ctor. The green oods and services such
Key Findings A holistic economic development strategy around green industry that includes demand and supply side efforts. Stimulate green jobs through green procurement, targeted incentives a workforce development in industries. Look towards environmental issues as sources of economic development opportunities. Recommendations Establish partnerships between public, private sector and nonprofit communities to build a green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sectors most like for growth (energy efficiency, green building, green goods movement). Generate demand though green procurement. Recognize businesses that are engaging in green activities. Market the City of Los Angeles as an ideal area for green growth. Train the appropriate	existing establishments vernments in order to ograms in the city. This growth within the city.
green economy. Provide targeted economic opportunities to a few specific sectors most lik for growth (energy efficiency, green building, green goods movement). Generate demand though green procurement. Recognize businesses that are engaging in green activities. Market the City of Los Angeles as an ideal area for green growth. Train the appropriate	argeted incentives and these products (environmentally friendly companies)	cific sectors most likely Generate demand n green activities. n the appropriate
Definition of "Green industry, green goods and services or the clean technology sector can be defined a "activities which produce goods and services to measure, prevent, limit, minimize or correct environmental damage to water, air, and soil, as well as problems related to waste, noise a	t, minimize or correct ecosystems." (organization for Economic Cooperation and Development).
Methodology NAICS data, comparative analysis with Germany and with City of Santa Monica	,
Data Sources Cited NAICS data	a monioa
Report Geography Los Angeles MSA
Green Occupations Wide array of green occupations cited. Full list can be found in report body and appendix Cited	ody and appendix
Green Industries Wide array of green industries cited. Prominent categories include green jobs related to 1)	en jobs related to 1)
Cited energy efficiency, 2) green building, 3) green goods movement	,
Keywords Green economic development, green jobs
Legislation Cited None
Bibliography (Y/N)
Reviewer Name/Org Laurie Kaye Nijaki, Provost Office USC

NOTE: This Digest is provided for information purposes only. Employment Development Department does not necessarily endorse any of these reports or publications.